

Small scale farmers who in most cases are women lack collateral (usually land), and thus are disadvantaged.

The high rates negatively affects their pursuits of productive income generating opportunities.

